

Mr. Paul Edmunds

Paul has over twenty five years' experience of working in international education, the early part his career was spent teaching English in Greece, Sweden and the United Kingdom. He entered the commercial side of language teaching when he was appointed International Sales Manager at an EFL materials wholesale supplier in Oxford, UK. Paul was also the inaugural Commissioning

Editor for Summertown Publishing, a specialist English Language publishing company, which was subsequently acquired by Marshall Cavendish/Hienle.

For the last eighteen years Paul has been based in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates, where he held a variety of senior leadership roles in the public sector; after serving as an instructor in the UAE Armed Forces he was selected to join the founding teams of the Institute of Applied Technology and Abu Dhabi's Centre for Vocational Education and Training, where he managed multiple high school, higher education and pathway project start-ups. Joining Kaplan International Pathway's four years ago, as Regional Manager for the Middle East and North Africa, Paul oversees the development of in-country pathway and preparatory program delivery across the region.